

Do you want to learn more about how to support women and girls from BAMER communities whose lives are affected by violence and abuse?

Contact Ashiana to discuss our expert led training and development.

Ashiana can use its 30 years of experience and expertise to help your organisation support Black, Asian, Minority Ethnic and Refugee (BAMER) women. We can offer training, speak at your conference or work with your organisation to ensure you are best placed to work with women and girls of all cultures and backgrounds. Our staff team includes a number of women who have vast experience in tackling violence and abuse. We support victims and survivors and are experts in our field.

We offer training in recognising the warning signs and support the victims of: domestic abuse, forced marriage, “honour” based violence, Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) and Human Trafficking. Our training courses are written by our expert staff based on the legal requirements of statutory and private agencies as well as their own wealth of experience in what your organisation can do to support women who are at risk of or victims and survivors of abuse.

If you would like someone to talk at your conference, event or to your staff team about the experience of BAMER women whose lives have been affected by violence and abuse and/or the legal issues and statutory duties of your organisation then please get in touch.
